

Red Dyes the Snow White of Montenegro's Hills as Her Sons Fight Vainly for Their Freedom.

Slowly but surely Montenegro, hitherto unconquerable, is being crushed as Serbia was. The picture shows an Austrian battery attacking a snow-clad Montenegrin barrier.

Exclusive photograph, © International News Service

"The service for the dead in Montenegro." This Austrian officer achieved in burial the distinction of a coffin and a surpliced chaplain to read the last rites.

Exclusive photograph, © International News Service.

